Often the best way to correct a dancer's technique is through hands on correction. This may involve the teacher moving the dancer's limbs into the correct position. It is a recommended technique when teaching dance and is only used when necessary. All of my teachers are qualified and CRB checked. Please tick below if you are happy for this teaching method to be used.

Publicity Material

D2Dance Academy may document events or classes for publicity through video or photography. These may be used in adverts or on the D2Dance website.

In line with the current legislation under the Data Protection Act (1998) and in keeping with our Child Protection, we will only duplicate images of participants who have consented to their use. Photographers are CRB checked or from bonafide external agencies. Children will not be identified by name in these materials unless otherwise confirmed.

I give permission for photo or video images of my child to be used for promotional material, ie: adverts, programmes and external press:
